Debunking the myth about treated sewerage water

Besides the provision of water services, Nyeri Water and Sanitation Company Limited are also has a mandate to provide sanitation services to the people of Nyeri Central and its environs. This is in line with its mission to provide services that are environmentally and economically compliant. Wastewater must be purified or treated to some degree to protect both public health and water quality. This is done by conversion of domestic wastewater into reusable environmentally friendly products.

Domestic sewage constitutes impurities and most cases disease-causing microbes but the level and standards that our water treatment systems maintain, ensure maximum waste conversion into clean, safe, and reusable water which has successfully been reused in rearing Tilapia fish. The resulting solid sludge can be used as eco-friendly manure or used to create charcoal brackets
